THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT!

Rain or shine, band members started practice at 7:00 o'clock every morning in preparation for the many contests and events in which they participated. The highlight of this year was the performance in the Sun Bowl Parade to which the band received a special invitation.

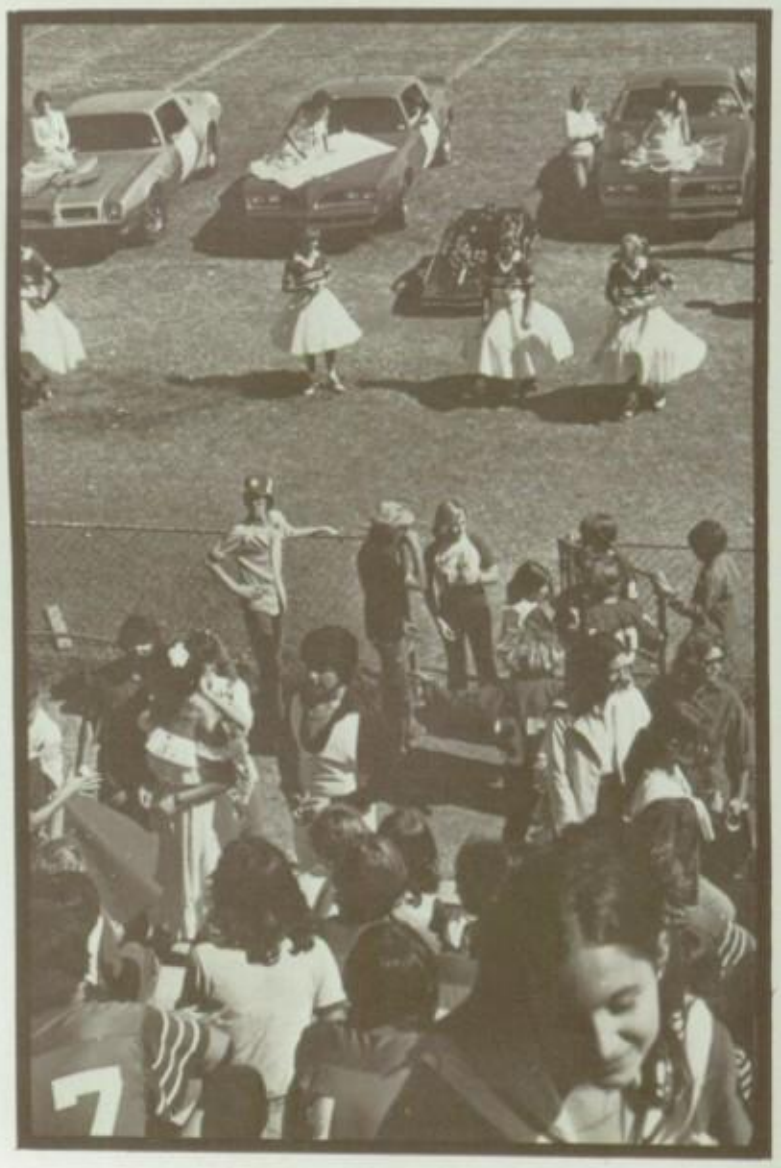
You don't have to play an instrument to be in band. In its second year with the band, the NHS Flag Corps added a special accent to the entertainment.

During ceremonies held at the half-time of the Newcastle-Pauls Valley game, Karen Fasgold was crowned 1978-79 Band Queen. She was escorted by Lloyd McCracken. Other candidates were Jerri Rigsby, escorted by Mike Mayhugh; Tammy Brown, escorted by Dwayne Newton; and Kelly Fischer, escorted by Steve Wiles.

High school classes worked long and tedious hours to produce several versions of movies on homecoming floats. The seniors' fire-breathing dragon came out on top and helped "fire up" the Racers to a 12-7 victory over the Anadarko Warriors.

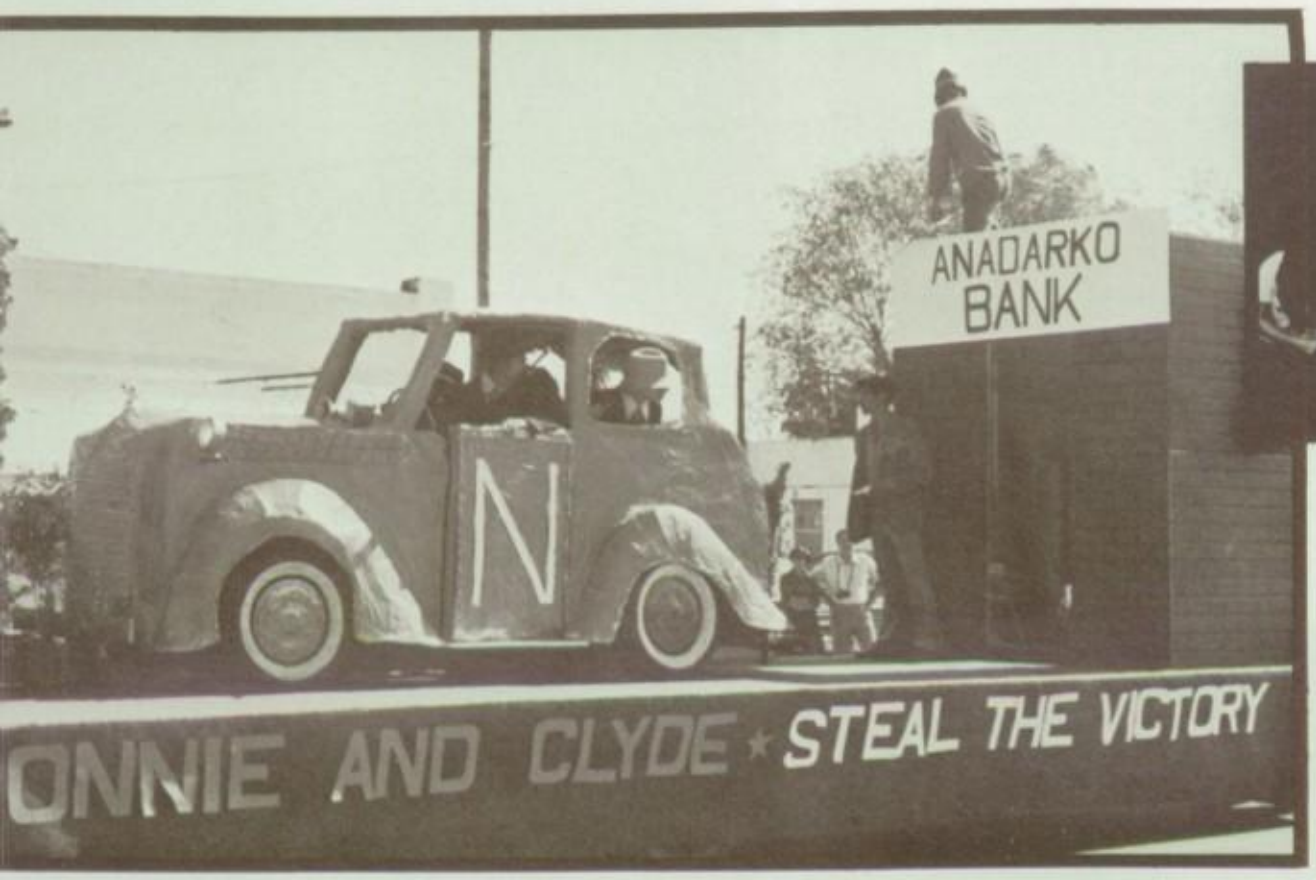
BRAGGIN' ABOUT THE DRAGON

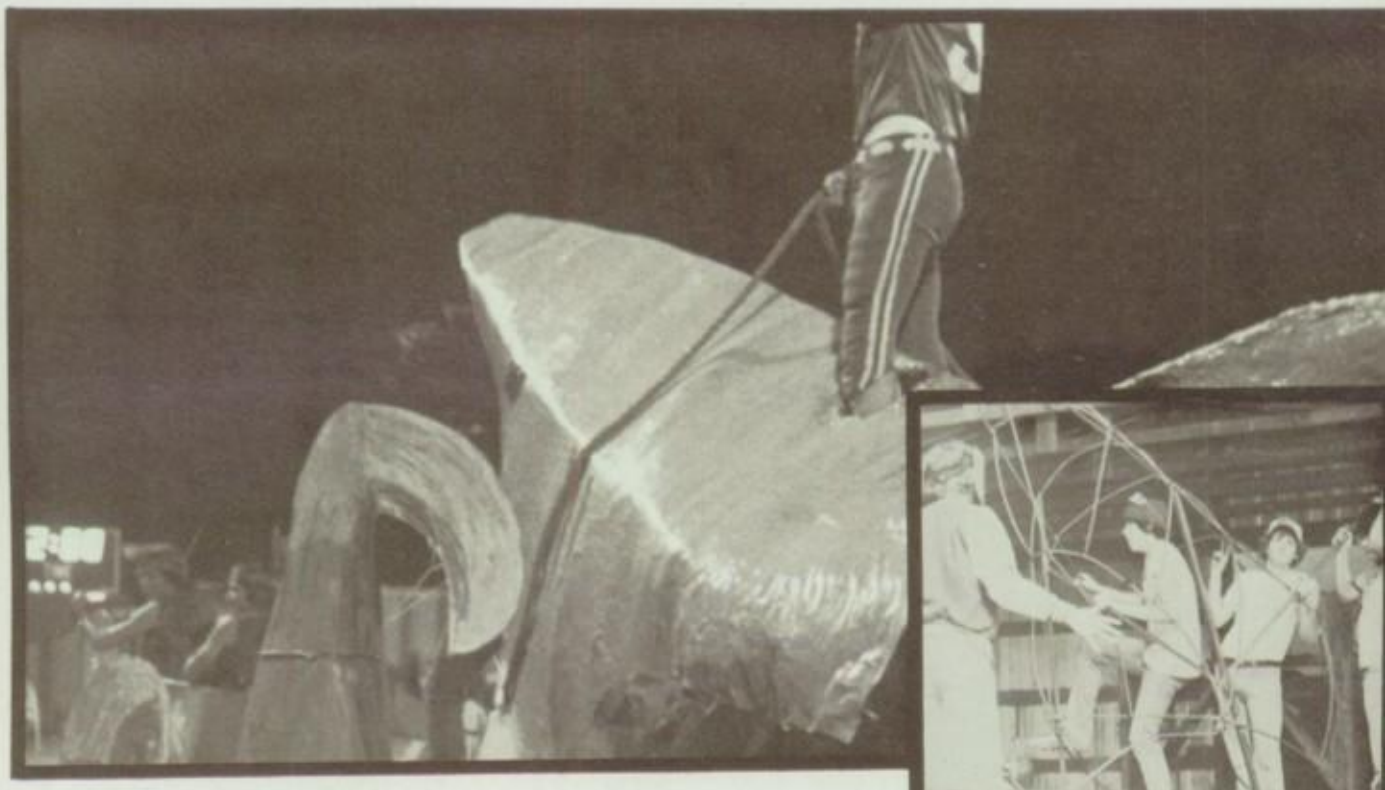
All classes scrambled to find ways to "Beat Anadarko" at the homecoming parade. The enthusiasm and spirit were evident from the participation of students and their parents. Class floats as well as brightly decked cars were featured in the parade event, planned and organized by student council.

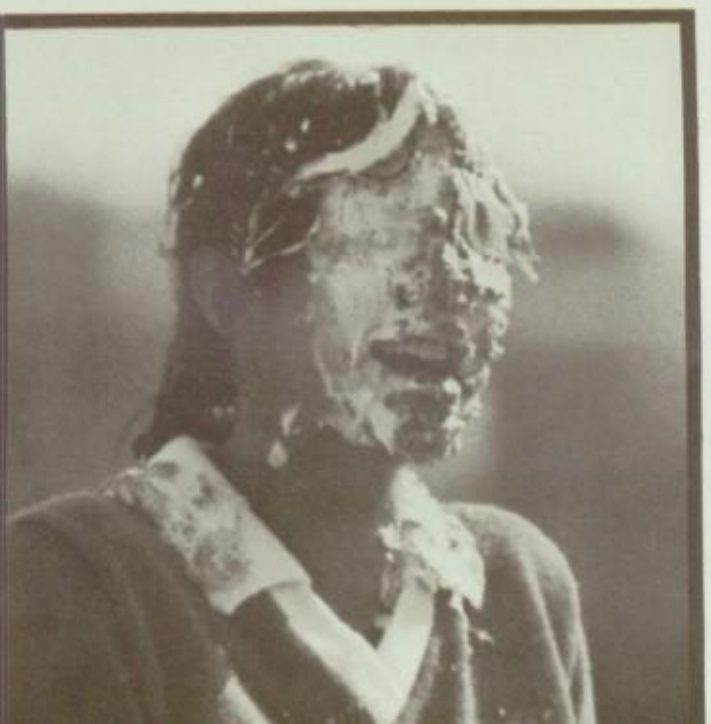


Freshmen learned to dance. The theme for their homecoming float was "Dance to Victory," displayed with juke box, albums and dancers. Sophomores blew their horn. The theme for their float was "Steal the Victory" illustrated by the Anadarko bank, Bonnie and Clyde and their famous car and horn.

Juniors had a sharp shark. "Attack the Warriors" was the theme of the float, presenting a skier pulled by a canoe with "Jaws" on the chase.

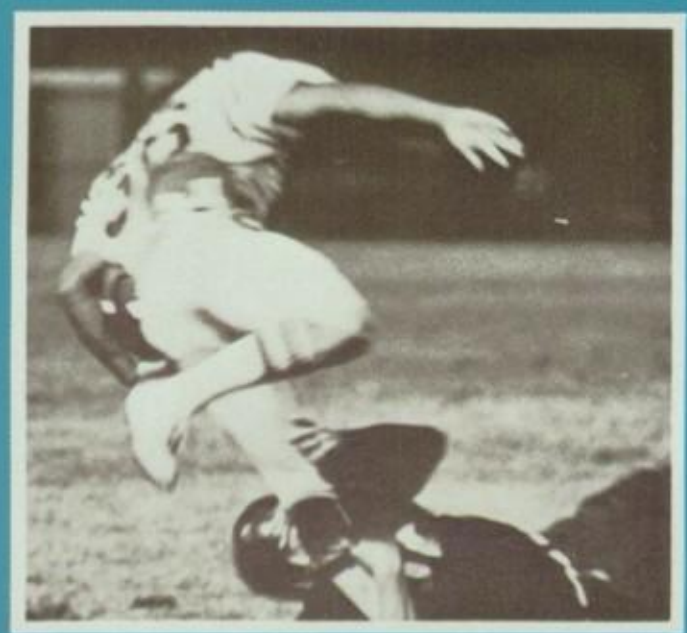


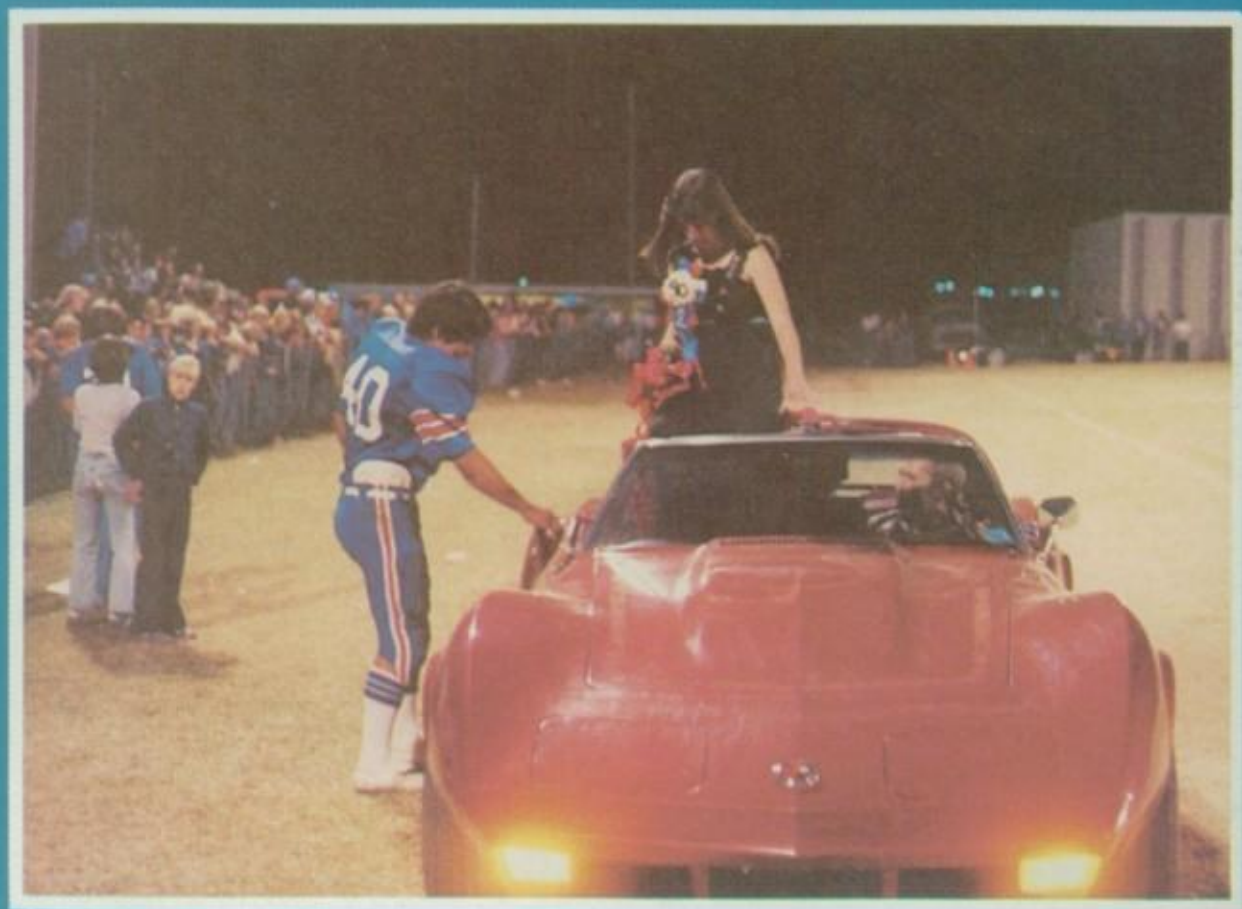




All through the week "grease was the word" for school spirit activities planned by student council. The Homecoming activities culminated on Friday at the pep assembly on the football field. This year's recipient of the pie in the face was Debra Stone.

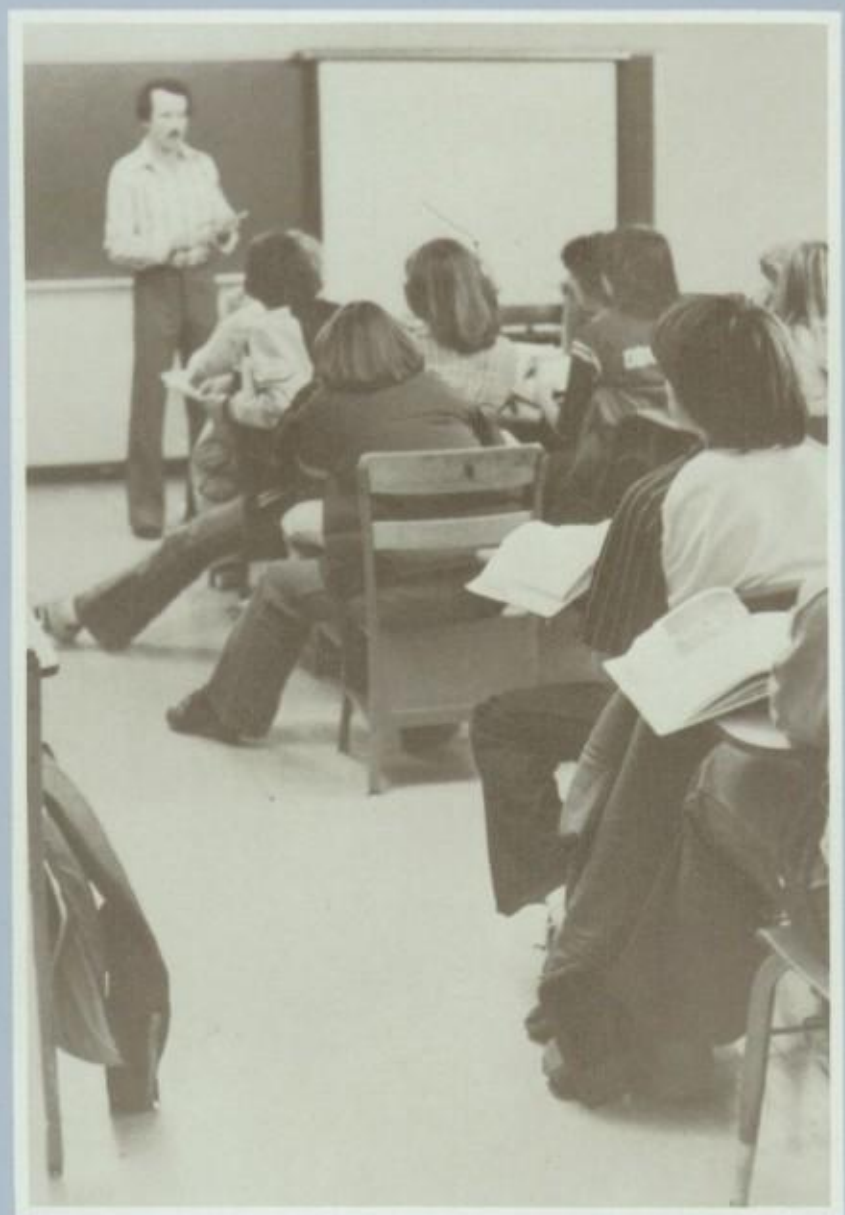
THE EVENT:
HOMECOMING 1979





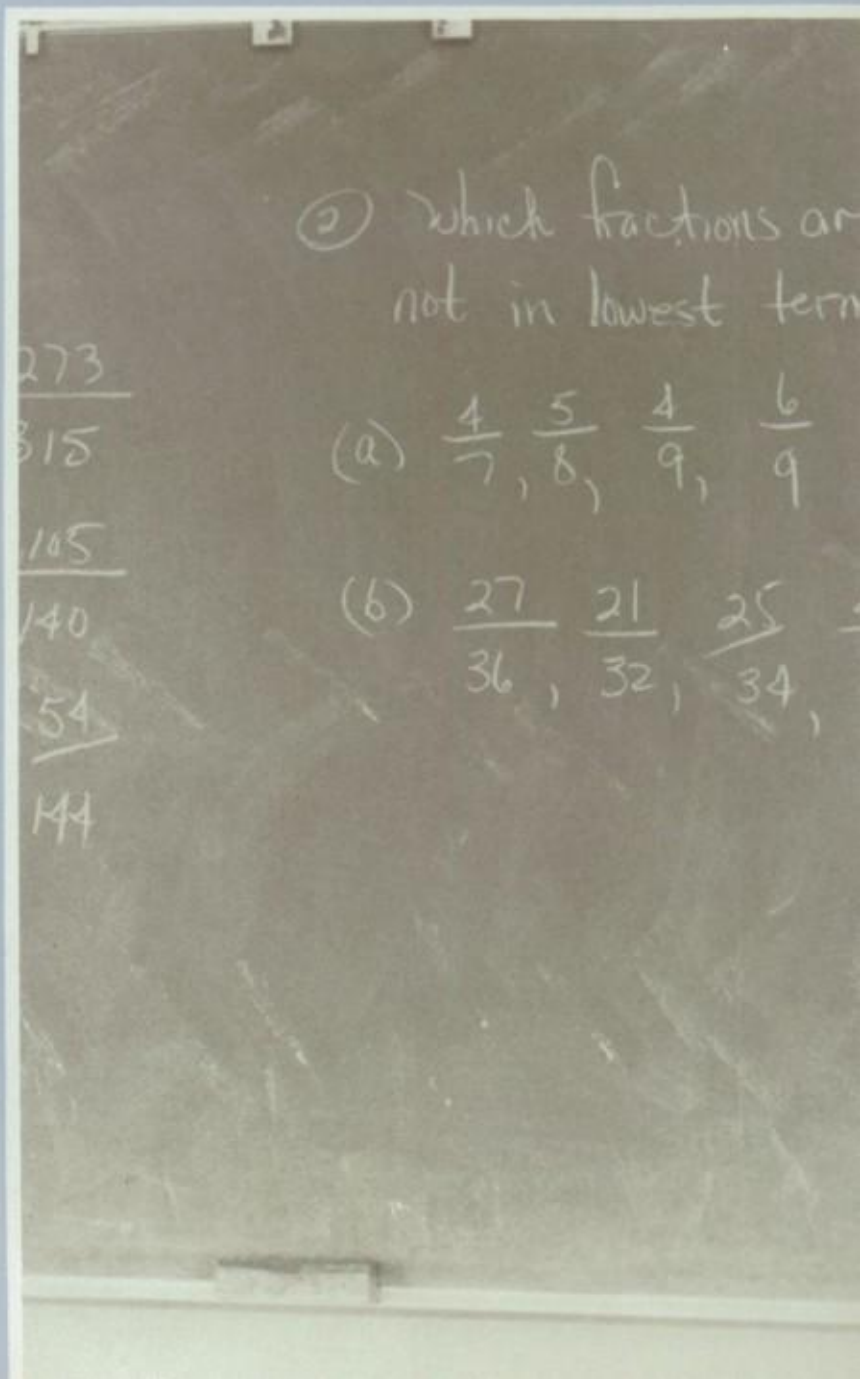
Homecoming so often is passed over and taken for granted. The time when hard work pays off and gets special notice. Long hours and dynamic endeavor are traded in for well-deserved recognition and a place of honor.

The light dimmed and the star of the evening, not soon to be forgotten, stepped to center stage. Miss Toni Kammerlocher, on the arm of Tracy Burris, reigned as 1979 homecoming queen. Sheila Gilliam, escorted by Jeff McClain, and Schelina Randleman, accompanied by Tony Vinson, were attendants. For these three young ladies, hardwork did pay off.

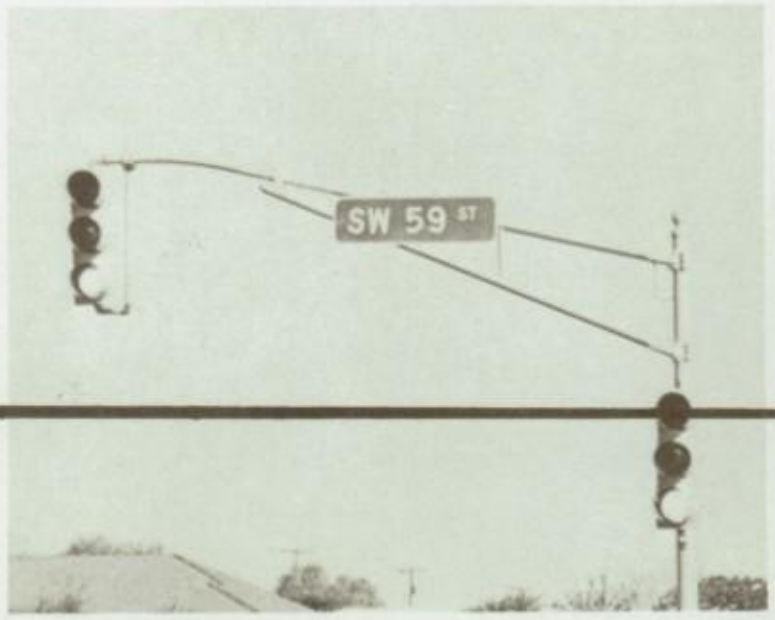


BUSINESS AS USUAL . . .

Daily life at Newcastle High goes on without interruptions (with a few exceptions!) The hustle and bustle of the hall during passing time, quick hurried glances at the clock, the low murmur of busy students, heads bent over their work in concentration — all of this is familiar to those who know us best.



Sometimes it isn't easy to get to class on time, especially when the lunch line is longer in front than it is behind, or when the locker door refuses to open and spill the contents, or when the only parking space is two blocks away.



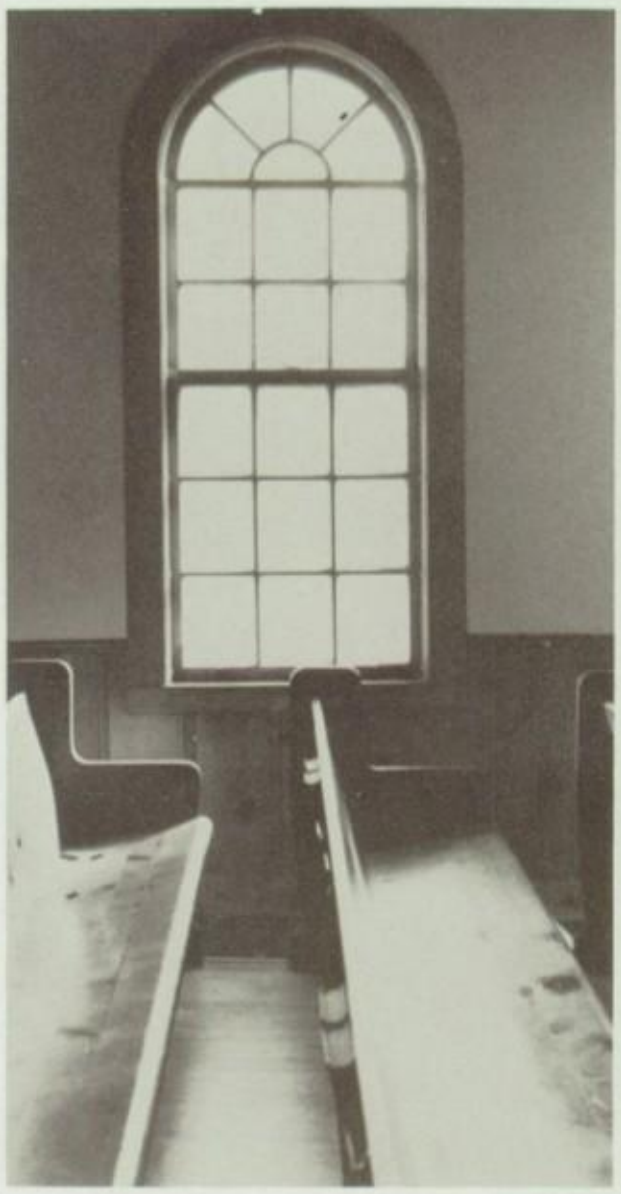
Weekends were made for having fun, and there were many ways ... viewing it or doing it, shaking it or breaking it, riding it or sliding it, throwing it or showing it, squealing it or pealing it. Yes, there were many MANY ways to do it in 1979.

WEAK-ENDS? NOT A CHANCE!

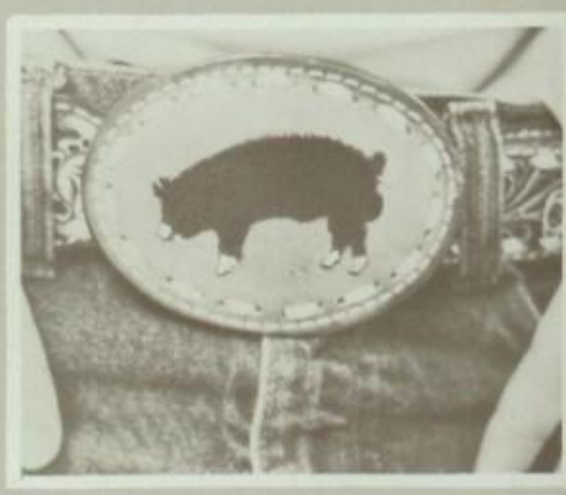
Whether participants or spectators, weekend sports competition animated the whole student body. For some, the weekend began on Thursday night, making Friday morning look like early winter.

Weekends held another important aspect of student life.

"God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in him."
I John 4:16b



Bull-Riding, Hats, Boots, and Pick-up trucks. Familiar sights, Right? Only to our "select" few goat ropers.



The goat ropers had more important things to do than worry about Friday night dates. Breaking their necks at the rodeos was their main concern. Broken bones and sore muscles were not uncommon.

GOAT ROPERS . . .

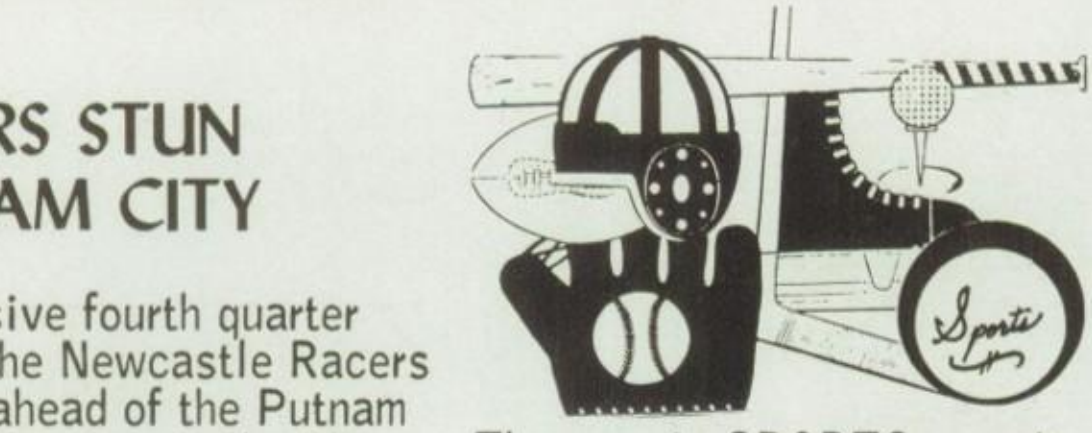
Then there were the goat ropers who had never been on a horse. They were the ones who worried about Friday night dates for the rodeo. But, of course, their hearts were in it, so what difference did it make?

. . . AND CITY SLICKERS

Boogie Nights. That was the theme for our city slickers. If they were into dancing, Starship 9 was the place. Fifty-ninth Street was the place to meet people. But no matter what they were into, the city was the place to do it. The night life had captured them.

RACERS STUN PUTNAM CITY

In explosive fourth quarter action, the Newcastle Racers plunged ahead of the Putnam City Pirates to win the Starship Nine Invitational "Cantest." It was neck and neck all night until a Racer fumble gave PC the edge. Then, due to the fancy footwork (and penmanship) of Walt VanDeburgh the Racers pulled ahead, despite a speeding penalty, with two minutes to spare. The final score was 927 to 902 in the Racer's favor. Racer fans enjoyed the thrill of victory, while the vanquished endured the agony of defeat: in the school cafeteria. Cans collected were donations to needy families. Running the front line defense for the Racers were R. Bond, J. Chapman, L. Burum, C. Dennis, and R. Bowen. The awesome offense followed with P. Dennis, W. VanDeburgh, M. Wehling, B. Arbuckle, A. Neuenswander, L. Percival and R. Maynard. But let's not forget the number of backers behind them. Their immeasurable support really helped. Putnam City in disco this year, Sulphur in football next. Putnam City today, tomorrow the world!



The year in SPORTS wasn't particularly thrilling. If you're a slightly paranoid Dallas Cowboy fan. Chances are you're a little disillusioned with football after Super Bowl XIII. You're probably out some cash, too. Of course, locally we didn't do too badly. The 78-79 Racer Football team had two All-State Honorable Mentions. A pretty heavy feat. Carrell Askins received recognition as linebacker, while Tracy Burris received a special recognition as defensive back. This year also saw Barbara Stone crowned at the first recent basketball homecoming. But back to the World of Sports with a wider scope. Huey Green and Nancy Lopez were really up to par this year; while jockey Steve Cauthen rode his way to success as the youngest and winningest jockey ever; and New Yorker Reggie Jackson proved diamonds really are getting voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility, only the 5th player to do so. According to a recent poll, the 5 most popular sports in Newcastle are (a)football, (b)basketball, (c)baseball, (d)golf, and (e)wrestling. Of course, everybody knows what America's No. 1 sport is — RODEO!

D&D-A NEW "PLOY"

A game with growing popularity at Newcastle was Dungeons and Dragons. Not a particularly recent invention, it has however, taken a while for it to be unearthed. The players, who will be the first to warn you about the hold it can have on one, are J. Chambers, B. Cordray, E., P., and T. Kammerlocher, S. Rorer (out of view), B. Sewell, J. Thomason, T. Underwood, and G. Vinson.

MUSIC MERCHANTS

This year was a great year for concerts and music, providing you aren't an asthmatic. With everything from Boston to Jimmy Buffet, you really had a choice. Remember how you camped out and got floor tickets to Aerosmith? And when you got there the entire OU basketball team had the row in front of you?! Not to mention the smoke! Remember how it got in your eyes and nose and hair and clothes? Or were you one of the ones supplying it? But if you weren't into that scene, there was Jerry Reed or Jimmy Dean. Or if you're not even into music, Steve Martin was here. Well, excu-u-u-u-se me! But for you claustrophobics, or if you couldn't afford a gas mask, the albums were just as good. You could boogie with the BeeGees, sing Seger and the Silver Bullets, or disco with Donna Summers. Last year's singles answered the question "Do Ya Think I'm Sexy?"; provided the YMCA with free advertising and gave the seniors a chance for the "Last Dance." Whatever song you sang, or whatever tune you tangoed to, the 78-79 year was a special one in music.

STAR GAZING*

1978-79 wasn't the year for stars. Probably the most appealing was a 4' 200-pound orangutang named Clyde. And he didn't even get top billing. Of course, his sidekick carries dome weight of his own — Clint Eastwood. If flying was your thing, what about Chris Reeves in Superman? If you were into gross, everybody knew the king of crude — John Beluschi. Ethnic lines were drawn by the Italian twerp Rosanne Rosannadanna. Then there were the perennial favorites Burt Reynolds and Barbra Streisand. They didn't make any movies that year, but they're still favorites. Who knows, maybe someday one of us will be riding around Hollywood in a silver Rolls — just don't hold your breath.

QUEEN CROWNED

The tradition of an All Sports queen is an old and time honored one. The most athletic, outgoing girl is picked. Too often this becomes just a beauty contest or a popularity vote. But this year it was difficult to decide. All the girls were athletic and they were all pretty and outgoing. It was anybody's race. Wining was senior Barbara Stone, who was not only supportive of athletics, but also participant. The other candidates were Cindy Garrett, Cheryl Shoumaker, and Denise Nolin.

MOVIE MAGIC

Americans spent over 4 billion dollars last year just to go to the movies. That's a lot of money, but once in a while you find a movie worth its admission. Something bigger than life. Something that stays with you. Unfortunately it's usually the gunk from the floor stuck to your shoes. Some of the year's better fare was Superman or Animal House. Of course, if comedy wasn't quite what you had in mind, maybe a little fear was. You got it with the Invasion of the Bodysnatchers. That was a hard one to sleep off. If Clint Eastwood (or an orangutang) grabs you, Every Which Way But Loose was playing. The year wasn't too bad for the movies, but somewhere somebody was screaming, "Whatever happened to cartoons?" Well, there was an answer: The Lord of the Rings. It helped to round out the year, satisfying everybody. We hope.

TV

With everything from a Boulder martian to a Brooklyn cab driver, there was always something on TV to entertain. Mork and Mindy was undoubtedly the success of the year. It's about a visitor from outer space (the planet Ork) who rooms with a pretty single girl in Boulder, Colorado. The only problem is Mork (from Ork) has the IQ of a three-year-old. For a quick look at what drives a taxi driver crazy, there was Taxi. The late night comedy freak insomniacs found a really bizare but funny program — Saturday Night Live. And there was the usual assortment of news programs, led by Walter Cronkite. The talk shows, such as Barbara Walters', kept'em watching. Some really block-buster movies like Rocky and Gone with the Wind enjoyed big audiences. Stand-bys like Sesame Street and The Electric Company were continuing to keep viewers. All in all, it was a pretty together year for TV. This is your Racer yearbook copy editor signing off from beautiful downtown Newcastle. Na-Noo, Na-Noo.

A YEAR WITH THE BIG BOYS

Third time is a charm, but it took more than magic for the Racers. They took a big step up to bang heads with one of the toughest classes in the State. When the season started hopes were high after the first triumph over the Tuttle Tigers. As the season progressed, however, the Racers' inexperience showed through. While short of wins, individual efforts received recognition. Chosen to the All Conference Team were Carrell Askins, Tracy Burris, Randy Deaville, Kevin Eddy, Richard Henderson, Darren James, Jeff McClain, Tony Vinson, Ray Wall and Steve Wynne. Tracy Burris was also named in the 1978 Little All-City listing.

At the first of the year a lot of teams start off fast, then they reach a peak at mid-season and dwindle toward the end of the season. But that wasn't the case for the Racers. Starting as a fourth quarter team, they picked up the pace through the season of play and intensity became the key throughout the whole game. Leadership was sparked by the only two seniors this year, Jim Chapman and Larry Littlejohn. The two leading scorers were Jerry Burnett and Terry Underwood.

INTENSITY WAS THE KEY!

A BASKET CASE OF INJURIES

The injured list of the Racerettes basketball team read more like the admissions list at Baptist Hospital. Seniors Sharon Thompson, Lisa Stanley and Darla Wynne were all out with knee injuries, as was sophomore Tracy Hill. Here's hoping next year is better, except that it will be leap year ... keep the crutches handy, anyway.

Hang in there, Seniors!

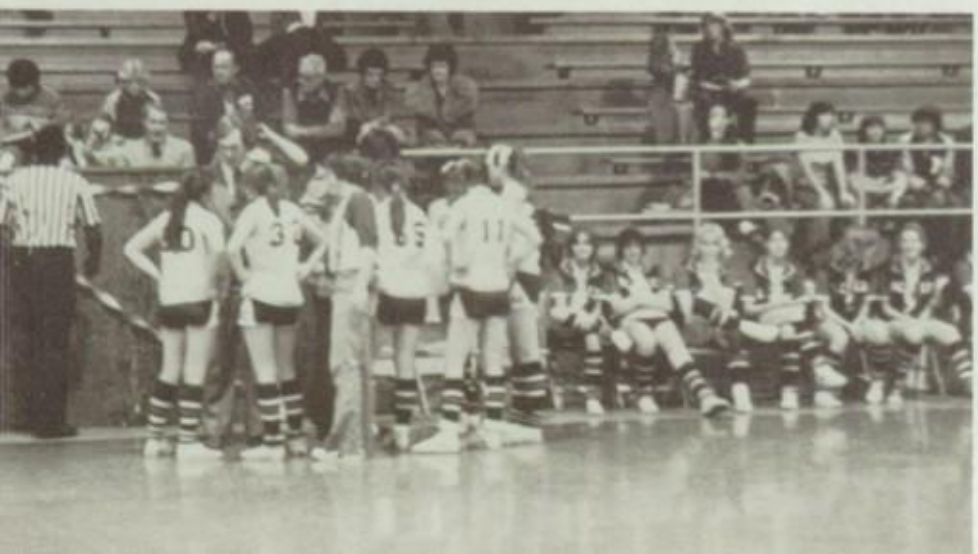
Impatient offense, waiting for their turn at the basket, and persistent defensive efforts made exciting competition on the girls' court.



SPERRY STRATEGY:

Spring thaw came late this year, but training muscles and temperaments for the tough '79 schedule began right on time.

DIAMONDS ARE FOREVER

... but the Racers had to rebuild a new team. This past season the baseball team featured young and inexperienced players. With only four returning starters — Darren James, Brad Thomas, Tony Steger, and Bill Arbuckle — from last year's district champion team, several freshmen joined the varsity team. The small core of veteran players provided the leadership and playing ability necessary to rally to the competition with some of the better 2A and 3A teams. The schedule included 28 games and three tournaments, allowing ample time to turn inexperience into experience.

The winter snows allowed extra practice before regular spring training for senior Darren James, the only four-year starter for the Racers.

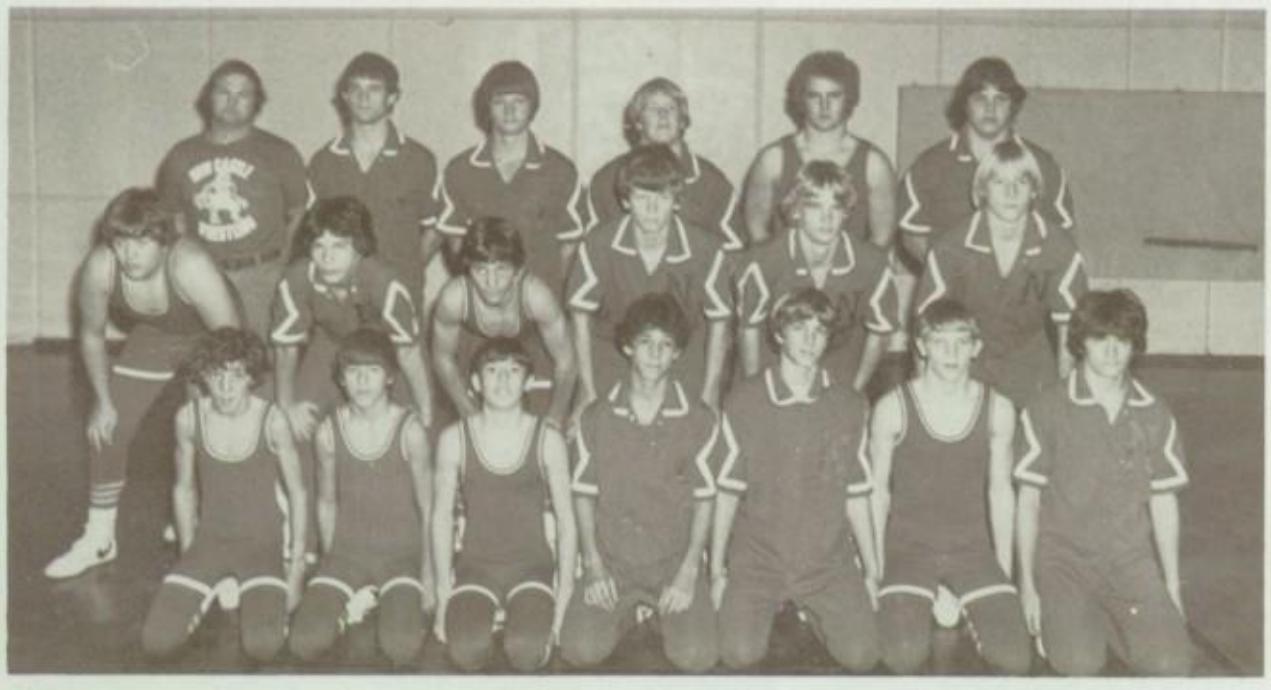
HOMEWARD BOUND!

Before the warm temperatures escaped, the girls softball team, a first this year at NHS, competed in a three-game season. Against Moore and Calumet the Racers dropped two games 15-0 and 9-8, but controlled the game with Norman 15-2.

The inauguration of wrestling at NHS was marked by inexperience and youth. Its introduction provided a chance to compete on an individual basis no matter what the athlete's size. The only requirement was heart. The team consisted of one senior, three juniors, four sophomores and a number of freshmen. Placing at least one first in every tournament proved to many that the sport was alive and competitive. The Junior Racers also faired well with a 10-3 dual record, 2nd place at the Choctaw tournament (with five first place individuals), and a fine showing in the State tournament.



HIGH SCHOOL WRESTLING: Row-1-A. Bryant, T. Paxton, M. Berry, D. Moses, B. Wynne, D. Thomas, J. Cannon; Row 2-K. Osborn, B. McCalister, V. Guerra, D. Thompson, C. Watson, B. Daniels; Row 3-R. Lawrence (coach) P. Kammerlocher, B. Sewell, J. Chambers, S. Wynne, M. Miller.

EXPRESS YOURSELF!

FORE SURE!

Don Juan, Tarzan, and Jack Nicklaus-they're all great swingers. But we've got a few of our own. With the girls shooting in the high 90's and boys in the low 70's, Newcastle had one of the best 2A teams in the district. Now if they could just get Sharon to use a tee ...

A NATURAL HIGH

... is a label that expresses the whole experience of the running program at NHS. It requires a great deal of self-discipline and willingness to run through a pain barrier in order to attain excellence. Once accomplished, a feeling of self-confidence, well-being and awareness defines it. Speed wins many individual races, but two or three people in every event win track meets. The hope at NHS is to build a solid program with unselfish athletes who will take pride in team accomplishment. The emphasis on track should show it no longer as a minor sport, but as an important one that looks toward the future.

THE REAL STORY. . .

As it happened, Tim Tation was trying to explain to the chief of police why the body that had been stabbed repeatedly with his letter opener, was lying in his living room, and yet he had nothing to do with it. He wasn't having much luck. "But honest, officer, it's like I say. I went to the party with Ima Pigg. We sat around and I saw Mick E. Mouse, who by the way has Harry Leggs, and had a bowl of Walt-O-Meal. Well, the Walt-O-Meal really gave me N. D. Gestion, so I took an Al K. Seltzer and had Al Po drive me home. Half way home all the Anti Freeze ran out of his car, so I called the Hank E. Panky Cab Company to get me home. The driver was a real Moore-On. It was then I noticed the Roy Al blue cadillac that had been following us all night. 'Quick!' I told the driver, 'Ben D. Rules and turn up that one way street.' That's when the Horace Manure hit the fan. Shots Rick A. Shayed off the car. Pedestrians screamed and a deep voice yelled, 'Come outta da car!' I did as I was told and found myself face to face with that nefarious ners, that infamous idiot, that no class hood, Nick O. Teen. They tied my up with a Larry Et Rope and held a Ray Zorr to my throat. But I wouldn't tell them what they wanted to know — the whereabouts of the Sol Lid Gold Jacques E. Strappe! But that evil Gene Yus knew where to look, so we came home and the creeps ransacked my house. It was in plain sight right on my piano but the fools didn't see it. Then my butler, Bud Weiser, entered. Just as Nick was going through my mail, But threw a cross body block any coach would be proud of, right into the letter opener. Nick and his thugs fled and I called the police. And that's how it happened. Honest, Warren Chief." And that's how Tim came here — to the Sunny Dale Home for the Criminally Cy Cotic. ... The End

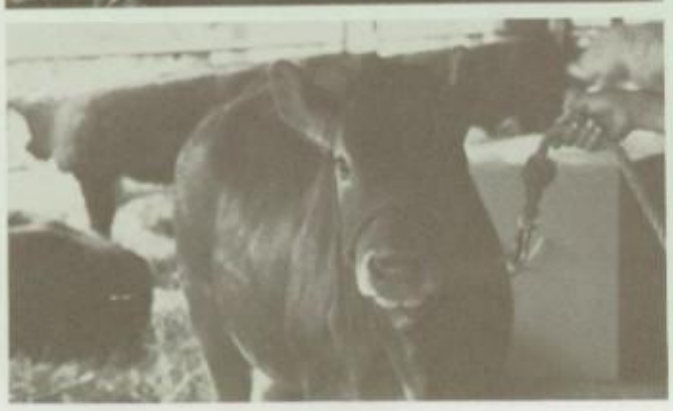
A great way to end a game is to add a touch of royalty. Barbara Stone, escorted by Jim Chapman, was crowned during the 1979 basketball homecoming. Festivities were organized by Pep Club and Pit Crew. Attendants were Brenda Littlejohn, Sheila Gilliam, Cindy Garrett, Carla Miller, and Tracy Hill.

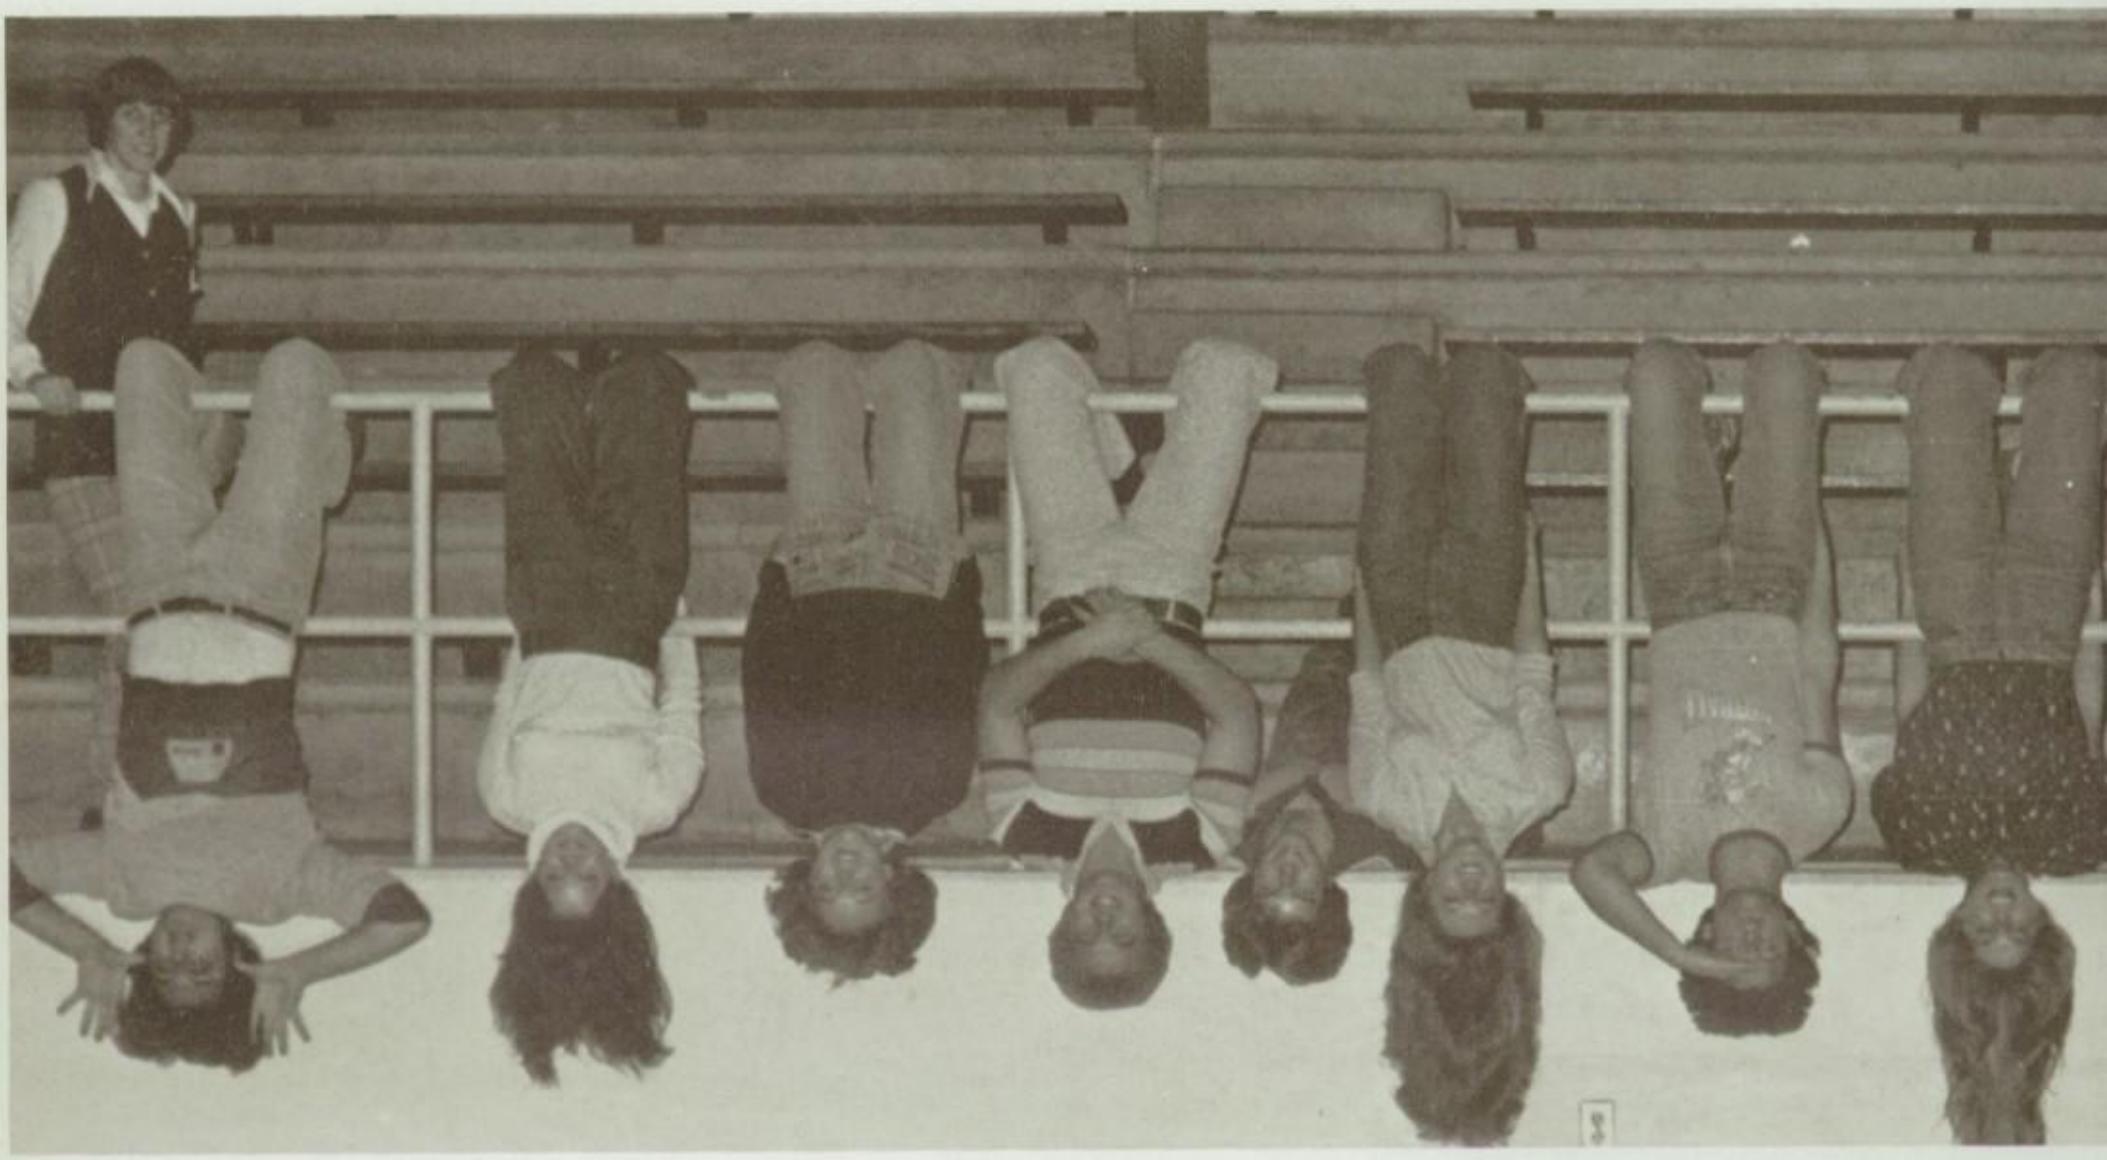
HAPPILY EVER AFTER



ORGANIZATIONS

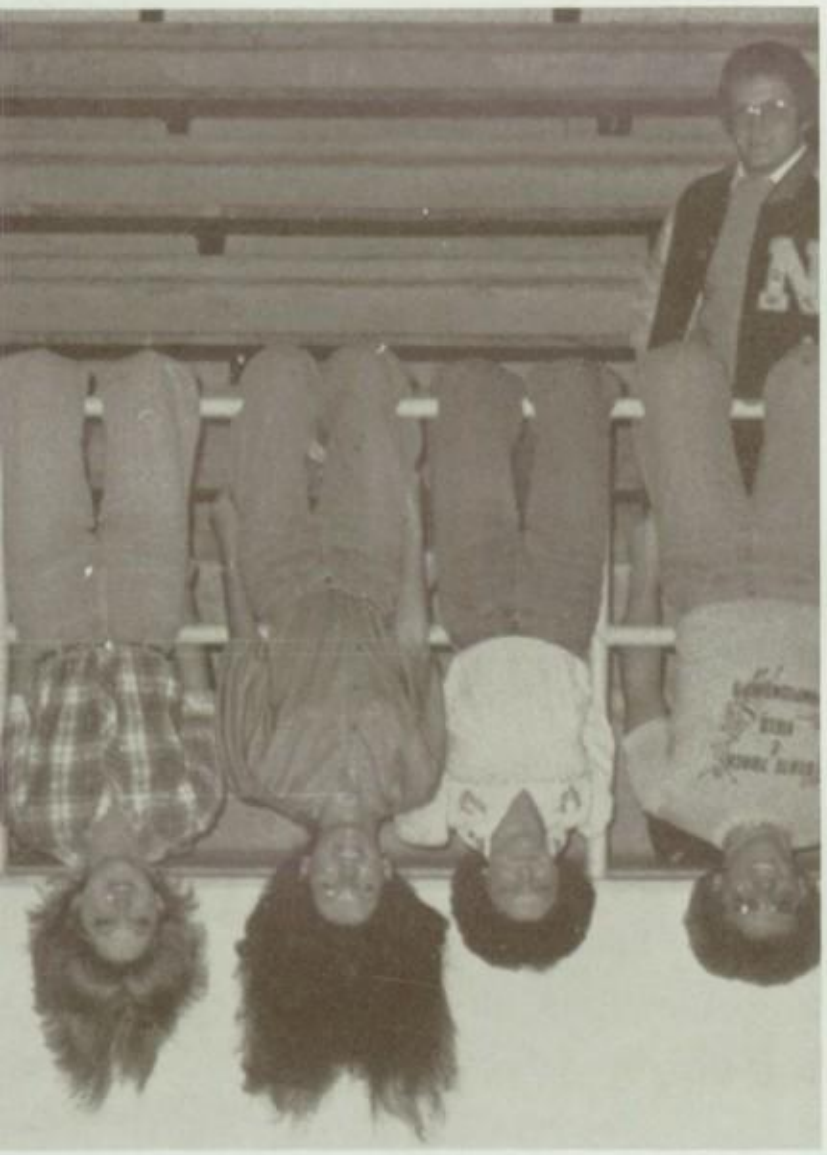
The NHS Stuco was fast on its way to becoming an important part of school affairs, indicated by its involvment in so many school and community events this past year. Several members attended the Oklahoma Association of Student Councils Basic Workshop in the summer of 1978. Seniors Cheryl Neuenswander, Bryan Estes, and Steve Wynne were selected through personal interviews with the executive secretary of the State organization for Advanced Workshop. These three were among the eighteen chosen from the entire State to be involved in extensive leadership sessions and planning.

Besides sponsoring assemblies and movies, Stuco also raised money for the library and special education departments. This year also saw the first Stuco-sponsored Newcastle Follies. Dipping toes into political waters, the 1978-79 Stuco also engaged in a phone campaign to pass a bond issue for badly needed educational facilities. Day-to-day business at the student store occasioned remarks about the constant shortage of pens and pencils. The year was a busy one and an exciting one, even though they did "hang around a lot."

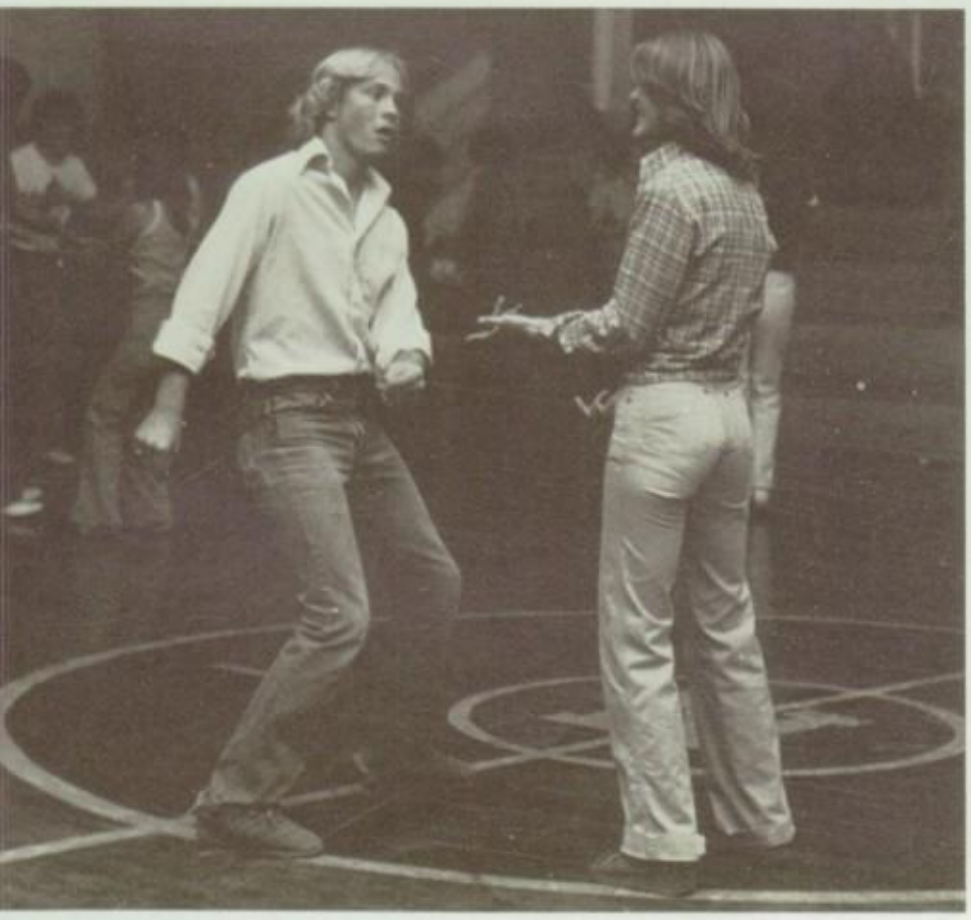


STUCO OFFICERS-M. Dougall (sponsor), B. Estes (reporter), L. Estes (sister of B. Estes and sophomore representative), C. Neuenswander (president), S. Wynne (senior representative), D Smith (4-H representative), L. Phillips (sophomore president), P. Kammerlocher (parliamentarian), C. Garrett (treasurer), J. King (secretary), M. Fletcher (vice president), K. Schaapveld (corresponding secretary), K. Hixson (chaplain?), K. Eddy (parliamentarian), A. Bryant (freshman representative-not pictured).

STUCO ON THE MOVE



The 1978 homecoming parade, a Stuco event, featured children of all ages.



Disco Duck ...
Well, that's what it looked like at the first annual homecoming dance.
It was either that or a turkey shoot as evidence by John Mainus' "unique" boogie act, but it was fun. For those who weren't hustled over the Racer 12-7 win over Anadarko, student council sponsored a dance complete with disco music, lights, and wierd disco steps. Everyone enjoyed it except Robbie. She left her bootie at home-it just wouldn't shake.

MUSIC HITS A HIGH NOTE

Music class keep busy this year involving themselves in activities for and representing the school. The goals that were set brought about high lights of the year and events of upstanding quality. The fall concert featured easy-listening music following their theme "Reflections", performed by the full chorus, the Madrigals, and soloists. The Christmas concert offered a double format using the Christmas story and a modern day setting. During the remainder of the year emphasis was put upon diligent practice for contest. All in all, the music students had no trouble staying occupied.

The Newcastle Racer Band was El Paso bound this year to participate in the Sun Bowl parade. The trip was being planned the summer before school and the trip was made a reality in November. The trip was made possible by fund raising involving all band kids, including junior high. Various fun raising, such as slave auctions, selling candles and popcorn were held in order to raise the $10,000 needed. Every bit was raised by the band which left for El Paso on November 21 and arrived back in Newcastle on November 27, after an exciting week of sightseeing and entertaining.

Building on today is not as easy as it sounds. It took a lot of hard work and perseverance to organize and implement the projects and programs that were a major part of club work. Raising money by selling fresh fruit helped expand the work of the organization in such areas as fund raising for other causes, such as St. Judes Hospital.

FFA
A GOLDEN PAST
A BRIGHTER FUTURE

To build for a brighter future is what the Newcastle chapter would accomplish. A review of the year includes a look at the speech contest, leadership training during the Tenkiller trip and the officers' participation in the sessions at Washington, D.C. The learning carried a responsibility to the future.

Row 1-P. Kammerlocher, R. Deaville, L. Daniel, R. Wall, L. Stanley, J. Chapman, S. Davis, R. Pound (instructor), D. Holman (instructor); Row 2-R. Henderson, E. Mainus, D. Thomas, A. Bryant, J. Price, B. Blanton, C. Wood, S. Gannaway, R. McKay, L. Tauer, T. Dunigan, R. Wood, K. Housh; Row 3-T. Steger, S. Hannah, T. Files, K. Stanley, T. Carson, J. Conner, S. Housh, N. Deaville, T. Stanford, B. Wynne, D. Smith, T. Burris, S. Wynne; Row 4-T. Scott, B. Sewell, V. Guerra, J. Wilson, R. Davis, R. Hicks, J. Mainus, R. Young, S. Garrett, C. Stanley, F. Cravens, C. Baughman, M. Miller, B. DeCarlo; Row 5-R. Mullican, A. Cottrell, D. Thompson, J. Allen, B. Coats, J. Petty, G. Vinson, K. Billen, R. Lee, R. Bender, T. Burris.

S. Wynne — Champion Duroc Barrow; B. Wynne — Champion Hampshire Barrow; J. Chapman — Champion Berkshire Barrow; L. Stanley — Grand Champion Cross Breed; M. Berry — Grand Champion Hampshire Wether; M. Berry — Champion Southdown Ewe.

Two Newcastle FFA members really made a splash in Washington, even if it was only in the pool. Jim Chapman and Randy Deaville both attended the national FFA Conference in Washington, D.C., but according to Jim, "We hardly had time to shower much less swim." The two attended discussion groups designed to develop leadership skills. They also went sight-seeing to Arlington Cemetery which was (a) clean, (b)memorable, (c)white; to Washington Monument, (a)tall, (b)sinking, (c)hard; and to Mount Vernon, (a)well kept, (b)Victorian, (c)lived in; and Congress in session was good for a laugh. With the emphasis on public relations, both FFA representatives earned their national degree easily. They received formal recognition at a formal banquet on the last night. Randy was overheard saying, "No matter how formal they make these things, the applesauce still gives me gas."

The Newcastle 40-H isn't just talk, it's action. Although 4-H activities and projects are careful;y planned by members and officers, there is every bit as much "do" as "say." And it's not all the glitter of trophies and blue ribbons, either. 4-H'ers work hard all of the time, earning the pride and respect they merit.

SOMETHING OLD . . .

SENIOR 4-H: Row 1-S. Vickers, S. Griesel, K. Wynne, M. Fletcher, D. Smith, C. Robertson, R. Lee; Row 2-V. Rosebrook, V. Rigsby, K. Martin, A. McNeilly, C. Shoumaker, B. Coats, S. Gilliam, L. Reddout, J. Mosshammer.

The windy city greeted the Oklahoma 4-H delegation with opened arms and billows of snow. National 4-H Congress at Chicago is one of the highest honors any 4-H'er can receive. As a representative of Oklahoma in the Environmental Awareness Project, Marlena Fletcher left for Chicago for a week of discussions, tours and banquets. Snow closed the Congress and Chicago's famous O'Hare Airport and another night was spent at the Conrad Hilton.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUB-Row 1-R. Krueger, B. Cordray, P. Hargues, D. Hill, S. Higgins; Row 2-J. Thomason, R. Ferguson, C. Garrett, D. Wright, L. Stanley, J. Wilson, D. Stone, C. Ake, V. Rosebrook, P. ENTHUSIASM AROUSES SPIRIT

CHEERLEADERS-S. Randleman, S. Gilliam, C. Malone, C. Dennis, D. Stone, L. Percival.

Victory-a word that puts smiles on the faces of the crowds at school games-had a special meaning to the Pep Club who worked so hard to support the athletes, and encourage school spirit. In addition to decorating school halls, they made spirit tags for the team, sold bumper stickers, car tags and Homecoming mums. During football season a Pep Club party was held at Sheila Gilliam's home complete with trampoline. The Pep Club Banquet was held in the spring with Pep Club Beau Mike Wehling as honorary guest.

A VIEW OF THE ROUGH STUFF!

The Middle School got a taste of the thrill of victory. Not only did they learn to win, they learned competitiveness, sportsmanship, and team work! Their efforts were rewarded by victories and experiences to influence their high school years. They never felt the agony of defeat because even if they lost, they still looked, acted, and performed like winners.

"Do, Re, Hey! That's 'me' in the picture! Fa, So what?" That seems to be the general reaction from the Jr. High music classes during their Christmas program. The entertainment ranged from a solo by Leesa Cornett, to a boys ensemble with Steve Dawson, Sam McGill, and Chris Miller, choral numbers by the whole chorus, and jokes by the director, Thom Wood.

The Junior High never stopped going last year, and it's doubtful that they'll slow down anytime soon. Being busy with the organizations represented here kept their enthusiasm high, so look out ...

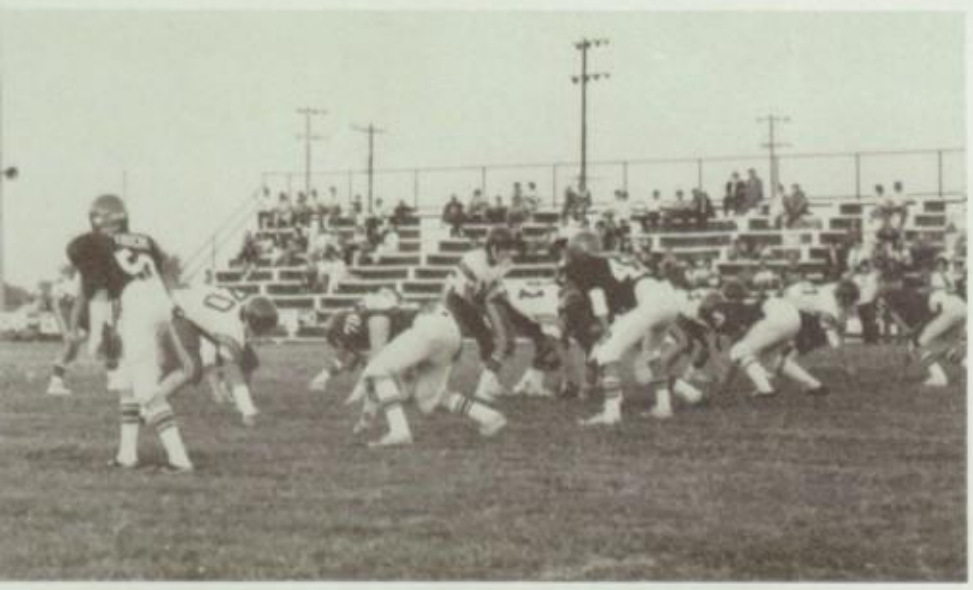
A TASTE OF THINGS TO COME

Junior High Homecoming was a glimpse of the future ... the candidates, the escorts, the game, the cheering, and of course, the kiss. It gave the Junior High "a taste of things to come."

Excitement was the word at the Newcastle-Tuttle pep assembly when Pam McCampbell was crowned Junior High Homecoming Princess. Gina Fox was the 8th grade candidate. The 7th grade candidate was Kristi Reed. Escorts were Jeff Reed, Lyndel Gibson and Brent Freeze.



NEWCASTLE

ACADEMICS

THE SCHOOL BOARD determined in large measure the quality of education sought this year. Supportive philosophical and financial considerations bolstered the emphasis on a balanced basic curriculum. Board members were (top row) Jerry White, Gene Smith, Carl Fancher; (bottom row) Gene Judkins, and Anton Kammerlocher.

In the office of the superintendent, James Sanders directed and coordinated administrative efforts in all levels of the school.

Committed to maintaining and fulfilling the policies and decisions of the board and supporting the work of classroom teachers were Joe Cox, high school principal; Roy Giles, middle school principal; and Clint Hightower, elementary principal.

An administrative effort is only as successful as its implementation of goals and projects. Without the consistent daily labors of a skillful secretarial staff, the most inconceivably monstrous snags can slow operations to a halt. Arresting those snags while in a benign stage were Wanda Castle, treasurer and financial secretary; Dorothy Hildebrand, secretary and director of food service; Sue Thomason, high school secretary; Virginia Wheeler, middle school secretary; Shirley Ross, elementary secretary, and Lorella Wilson, receptionist and counseling office secretary.

COORDINATION COUNTS

Counseling students in class selection and career choices and coaching golf when weather permitted were the major responsibilities of high school counselor, M. W. Murr, as he endeavored to work within the demands of a wider curriculum.

. . . FOUR MILES A DAY SIX DAYS A WEEK . . .

A foreboding goal to many, running that distance was commonplace for faculty members L.E. Brewer and George Cornett. When asked why, L.E. Brewer replied,

"I decided that a running program would increase my productive years as a teacher-coach-human being .... it is a mind-body coordinated effort, a 'head trip' as well as an overall conditioner. Aging has been described as a disease brought on by neglect of the body. If running can prevent this, what other motive is needed? Call it sensory awareness or communicating with nature. Above all, try it!

TAKING CARE OF BUSINESS . . .

Busy, busy, busy. That described the cafeteria employees' days. Cooking, serving, and cleaning ranked high on the agenda. They were good at taking care of their "busy-ness". If they wouldn't have been they might have been driven crazy. After all, hunger does strange things to children's dispositions.

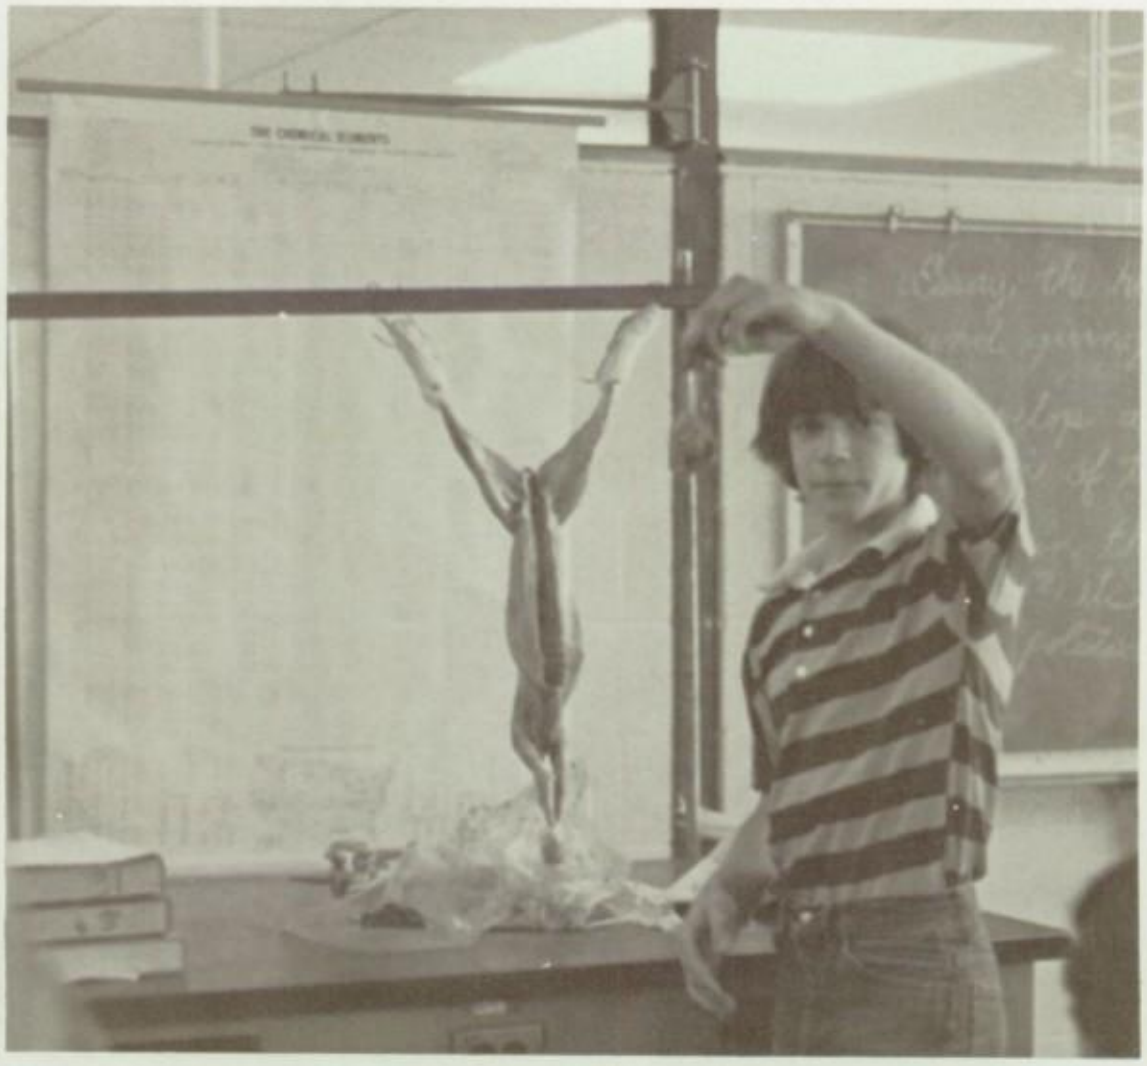
Follow the "liter." What counts coins? A centi-meter. With all these bad metric jokes this isn't a math class, it's a Henny Youngman Drop Out Course.

History ... is a dead subject. As dead as it can be. It killed all of my ancestors, and now it's killing me. But it's fun; besides, I love map pencils.

English ... it's a hard class to accept. We've been speaking it for several years now. It seems kind of point-less to me. But now if I ever meet the Queen, I'll know what to say.

Looking for a good book to read? Or maybe you want to read the latest issue of Cycle World or Seventeen or National Geographic? Desperate for materials on that research paper that is due tomorrow? Now what on earth do those numbers and letters mean on the card? If you're in need of a place to study or just to rest, the library-media center is the place: for research material or for that greatly needed solitude.

BACK TO BASICS



Going under the knife soon? You won't if you catch our act. Remember that all those surgeons out there at one time practiced dissection in a high school biology class like this one. Actually, our specimens have few, if any, complaints. If they do, they have to take them to the office.

EXTRA CURRICULUM

For a high school class in only it's second year, Art is immensely popular. In this #1 elective, you can paint, draw or papier mache' your troubles away. And where else can a senior get messy on purpose?

Typing. What can you say? It's fun. It's useful. It's frustrating!!!!

Woodwork and women? You bet! No longer can men lounge on the lathe as long as they want. Practical and artistic products can be made by both sexes.

Ever see a fat office aide? There isn't any academic credit given for the job, but teachers appreciate their work, which counts for something, and running the halls burns a lot of calories.

Family Living, one of the more popular electives, offers to males what the female gender has enjoyed for so long in school — the chance for a full course meal outside of the school cafeteria. While women students are also participants in this class, it must be noted that the most "interesting" versions of some recipes are male products.

Bake a cake,
Sew a skirt,
Learn to fix
A baby's hurt ...
Home Economics is a prep course for living on one's own and succeeding at it.

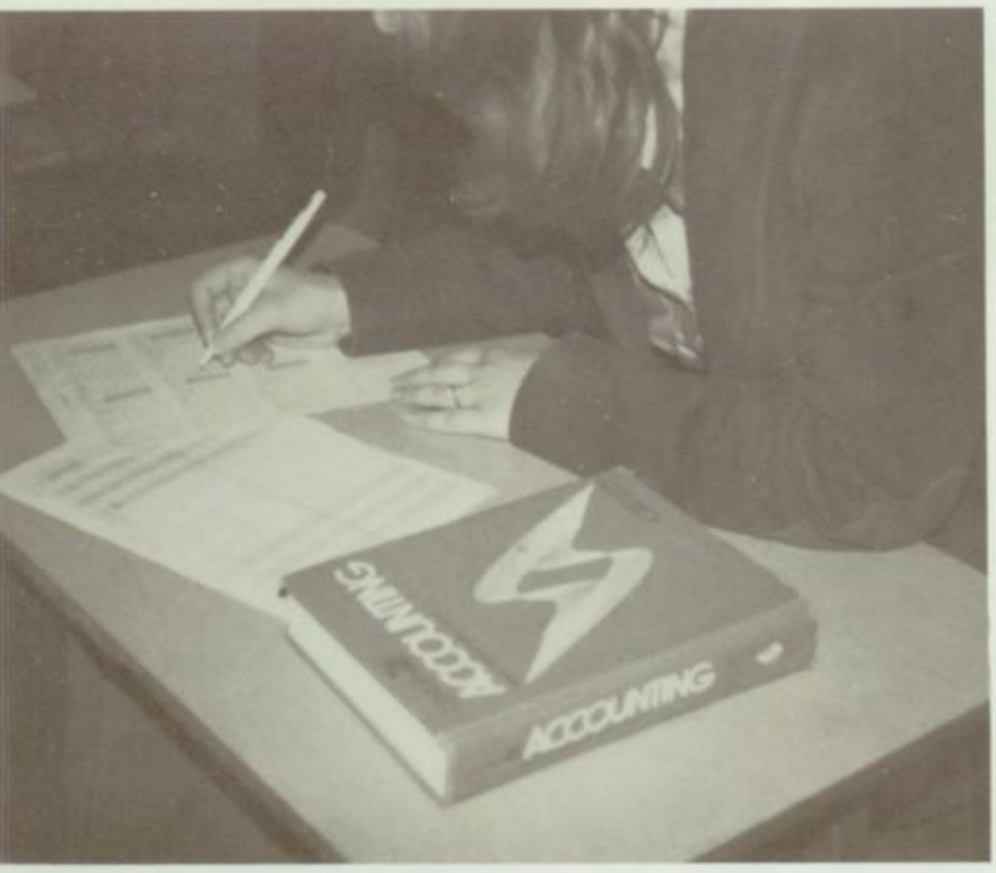
Psychology and Ag Mechanics are closely related. Although one is more a mental task and the other is manual, both require devotion and dedication. The skills learned in these classes will prove useful in later years. Anyway, if you don't make a good welder, you are bound to be a good psychologist, and there's about as much money in psychology as in welding.

Many new graduate students use the office skills learned in high school as springboards to life-time careers. Accounting, shorthand, and typing all make the student more employable. Whether planning an office career or just learning to balance a personal checking account, these classes prove to be an exciting and an advantageous experience.



PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

Public education is free, and is a privilege extended to everyone. Elective classes such as these, if taken seriously, can profoundly affect the GNP, and significantly alter the quality of the nation's work force.

The Vocational Technical education program at N.H.S. is teaching many students a career field. The career fields being offered take many forms. While some people do not even realize the chance being offered others are utilizing it fully. These persons are being taught a trade of skill by working in an industrial atmosphere with most time spent in the lab or "shop" as it is commonly referred to. Spending more time in the shop than in the classroom allows one to learn and gain experience from their mistakes.

WE DID IT ALL FOR YOU!

The sophomore class officers got a real taste of responsibility this year. Raising money and organizing work for the float occupied much of their time. Their originality and energy were refelected in the quality of their float. The officers were president-Lauri Phillips, Cathy Dennis-vice-pres., sec.-treas.-David James, and Kelly Wright-reporter. The sophomore sponsors were Carol Moore and Mary Babich.

UP TO BAT FOR THE FRESHMEN CLASS

Notwithstanding the reputation that this year's 9th graders had the class officers displayed the ready courage required to lead such a class. Officers were Marc Woodard, president; Jeff Reed, vice president; Jeff Price, secretary-treasurer; Vicki Rigsby, reporter; and Al Bryant, stuco representative.

SOL TALK . . .

Mrs. Sperry's 8th grade science class really got into the shine of things with their solar energy unit. The class made solar-heated hot dogs and tea. It took about 30 minutes, but the class finally got to eat. (They cornered the market on Reynold's Wrap.)

Despite a few grumblings of protest, the Civics Class found itself playing clean-up one day, after the usual weekend bottle-breaking spree. But they enjoyed it. Said one participant, "We made a clean sweep of it."

IRREPRESSIBLE STUDENTS

For many pupils dictionary work seemed an unnatural distraction put upon them by teachers who did not understand that misspelling is a part of creativity. With little apparent vexation, however, this seventh grader approached Merriam-Webster almost reverently.

AHH RECESS!

The only reason we came to school. And now it's over. No more sandboxes, swings, slides, or teeter-totters. No more tag, or football. They're cutting us off, Cold Turkey! The 6th to 7th grade change is traumatic enough without taking our life's blood away. But wait a minute. The sand always got in my shorts, and I always fell off the swings and teeter-totters. Tag on asphalt is like using a Brillo pad for a washrag. Maybe I won't miss recess that much after all.

To a fifth grader, reading is not usually one of his favorite classroom activities. But Mrs. Payton has devised a reading circle. According to Mrs. Payton the children really enjoy it. Says one young reader "I like it, besides, I get to see who else has shoes like mine."

BURIED BENEATH A MOUND OF WORKBOOKS

With a workbook for math, and a workbook for reading, and a workbook for science, it's a wonder they don't have a workbook for getting a drink of water. But according to the teachers, they work. "Now if I can just find my desk under all this paperwork."

READING TAKES FIRST PLACE

First Grade sets the tempo for activities and interests in years to come. Just peeking in the classroom door for a few minutes may not suggest anything more than advanced kindergarten, but it is here that for the first time reading is made a large and emphatic part of the curriculum. More than just being able to read the backs of cereal boxes, the student is now enabled to investigate the nutritional contents and discern whether or not there is any truth in the messages of the TV commercials on Saturday morning. Patient and diligent teachers help assure that their students may not only survive Madison Avenue, but also enjoy life in spite of it.

KINDERGARTEN KLOSE-UP

Recipe for eager little kindergarteners consists of:
kleenex, 1 box
crayons, box of 8 large pencils, the fat ones scissors, rounded at tip
paper, large line
Prang water colors, big brush
Combine all ingredients, stir well, pour into large cigar box (be sure names are visible). Let set 3 days. At the end of this time you will have ... one crayon, half a pencil, a tablet full of creative pictures of the teacher.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

It never fails. Have an assembly, go to lunch, even sit in class, and some clown gets shutter happy with a camera. Here we sit minding our own business, and we end up as filler space for the yearbook. They interrupt our plays, interfere with the buses, and even back us into corners over this. Too bad we can't make them disappear like the guy in the cape did to the rabbit.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The RACER staff wishes to thank Terry Hart of the American Yearbook Company for his help throughout the year. For Mark Williamson's candid and group photography and the many late hours in the printing lab the staff is especially grateful. We also wish to thank Dr. Anton Kammerlocher for his candid photography and Blunck Studios for individual photos. Finally, a very big thank you goes to the administrative staff and faculty in all grade levels for their enduring support and cooperation.

COLOPHON

The 1979 RACER was printed on #80 white gloss. The 156 page book had a press run of 715 copies. Copy was set in 8 and 10 point Register Gothic and 18 and 30 point Lydian. There were 1373 photos in the book. The RACER cover depicts activities that are a part of the NHS school year. The multi-textured cover in tones of candlelight are highlighted with the deep red title and the silkscreen application in brown. The school color serves as a backdrop for autographs and scribbles in the light tone, sky-light.

CLOSING

The purpose of the 1979 RACER was to record and preserve memorable and enjoyable events, to entertain and to enlighten. Next Christmas when the family dinner is over and there isn't anything good on TV, get out this book and take another look, because ... YOU NEVER LOOKED SO GOOD!

Donna Hull, Sales

WE WANT TO MEET YOU AND GREET YOU

NOBODY STANDS BEHIND TIRES LIKE THE HIBDONS.

Hibdon Tire Centers not only offer every day low sale prices, but also guarantee every new tire they sell against both defective workmanship and road hazards. Hibdon New Tire Warranty: We will replace any passenger tire sold at Hibdon Tire Center to the original purchaser free of charge if it fails during the 1st 50 percent of tread life due to road hazard or defects. No taxes, no labor charge, no prorating, absolutely free! During the last half of tread life, the tire will be prorated on a percentage of total tread wear based on the current selling price. This warranty covers all road hazards plus defects in workmanship and materials. Tire covered under mileage warranty will be adjusted according to mileage instead of tread depth.

Who else in Oklahoma provides you with such complete replacement-free protection?

Nobody stands behind tires like the Hibdons.
